

ESPERANZA MÍA

SYNOPSIS

A romantic comedy that tells the story of a forbidden love between Julia Albarracín (Lali Espósito) and Tomas Ortiz (Mariano Martinez).

Julia gets used to living with nuns without knowing that one of them, Sister Clara (Gabriela Toscano) is none other than her biological mother. Clara got pregnant when she was very young and decided to give the baby over to the Mother Superior who, in turn, entrusted her upbringing to her friend, Blanca. Then, Clara decided to become a nun.

Esperanza is hidden under a false identity and cannot reveal the truth. She's not a novice and has fallen head over heels in love with him. In turn, Tomás eventually starts losing his religious vocation. As love grows between them, Esperanza has not forgotten her mission: to discover who is responsible for the death of her mother and get justice.
